GCE A LEVEL RELIGIOUS STUDIES

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Aims and objectives

The WJEC Eduqas A level in Religious Studies encourages learners to:

- develop their interest in a rigorous study of religion and belief and relate it to the wider world
- develop knowledge and understanding appropriate to a specialist study of religion
- develop an understanding and appreciation of religious thought and its contribution to individuals, communities and societies
- adopt an enquiring, critical and reflective approach to the study of religion
- reflect on and develop their own values, opinions and attitudes in the light of their study.

A level Religious Studies is designed to enable learners to develop their interest in, and enthusiasm for, a study of religion and its place in the wider world.

The WJEC Eduqas A Level specification contains three components which include a wide range of topics for consideration, including an in-depth and broad study of one of the six major world religions, philosophy of religion, religion and ethics.

The specification is presented in a clear and concise way to ensure that the specification content is accessible, relevant and engaging for both teachers and learners.

Each component has also been designed to allow co-teachability with the WJEC Eduqas AS Religious Studies specification.

1.2 Prior learning and progression

Any requirements set for entry to a course following this specification are at the discretion of centres. It is reasonable to assume that many learners will have achieved qualifications equivalent to Level 2 at KS4. Skills in Literacy/English and Information Communication Technology will provide a good basis for progression to this Level 3 qualification.

Some learners will have already gained knowledge, understanding, and skills through their study of Religious Studies in earlier key stages including GCSE and/or AS.

This specification provides a suitable foundation for the study of Religious Studies or a related area through a range of higher education courses, progression to the next level of vocational qualifications or employment.

In addition, the specification provides a relevant, interesting, coherent and worthwhile course of study for learners who do not progress to further study in this subject.

The skills developed throughout the specification will equip learners to go on to further wider learning and study, both in Religious Studies and in other disciplines.

This specification is not age specific and, as such, provides opportunities for learners to extend their life-long learning.

1.3 Equality and fair access

This specification may be followed by any learner, irrespective of gender, ethnic, religious or cultural background. It has been designed to avoid, where possible, features that could, without justification, make it more difficult for a learner to achieve because they have a particular protected characteristic.

The protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010 are age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

The specification has been discussed with groups who represent the interests of a diverse range of learners, and the specification will be kept under review.

Reasonable adjustments are made for certain learners in order to enable them to access the assessments (e.g. candidates are allowed access to a Sign Language Interpreter, using British Sign Language). Information on reasonable adjustments is found in the following document from the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ): Access Arrangements and Reasonable Adjustments: General and Vocational Qualifications.

This document is available on the JCQ website (www.jcq.org.uk). As a consequence of provision for reasonable adjustments, very few learners will have a complete barrier to any part of the assessment.

2 SUBJECT CONTENT

Learners must study all three components.

Each component should be studied in the light of the overall aims and objectives for Religious Studies.

Each component has been designed to encourage learners to demonstrate their ability to:

- reflect on, select and apply specified knowledge about religion and belief
- account for the influence of social, religious and historical factors on developments in the study of religions and beliefs
- construct well informed and reasoned arguments about religion and belief, substantiated by relevant evidence
- understand, interpret and evaluate critically religious concepts, texts and other sources
- present responses to questions which are clear and coherent
- use specialist religious language and terminology appropriately
- identify, investigate and critically analyse questions, arguments, ideas and issues arising from the study of religion including those of scholars/academics
- analyse the nature of connections between the components they have studied.

Each component has been designed to allow learners to acquire and develop knowledge and a critical understanding/awareness of:

- religious thought, belief and practice and the different ways in which these are expressed in the lives of individuals, communities and societies
- how religious texts and/or other relevant sources of wisdom and authority are interpreted and applied
- major issues, challenges and questions within and about the study of religion (for example, the role of tolerance, respect and recognition and interreligious dialogue, methods of study, relevance to contemporary society) and responses to these
- the causes, meanings and significance of similarities and differences in religious thought, belief and practice within and/or between religion(s)
- questions, issues and arguments posed by scholars from within and outside religious traditions
- social, religious and historical factors that have influenced developments in the study of religions and beliefs
- connections between the various elements of the components studied.

2.1 Component 1

Component 1: A Study of Religion

Written examination: 2 hours

33⅓% of qualification

100 marks

Learners will be assessed on one of the following options from a choice of six:

Option A: Christianity

Option B: Islam

Option C: Judaism

Option D: Buddhism

Option E: Hinduism

Option F: Sikhism

This component provides learners with the opportunity to undertake an in-depth and broad study of their chosen religion covering themes ranging from religious figures and sacred texts to practices that shape religious identity.

This component includes the study of the following content:

- religious beliefs, values and teachings, in their interconnections and as they vary historically and in the contemporary world, including those linked to the nature and existence of God, gods or ultimate reality, the role of the community of believers, key moral principles, beliefs about the self, death and afterlife, beliefs about the meaning and purpose of life
- sources of wisdom and authority including, where appropriate, scripture and/or sacred texts and how they are used and treated, key religious figures and/or teachers and their teachings
- practices that shape and express religious identity, including the diversity of practice within a tradition
- significant social and historical developments in theology or religious thought including the challenges of secularisation, science, responses to pluralism and diversity within traditions, migration, the changing roles of men and women, feminist and liberationist approaches
- a comparison of the significant ideas presented in works of at least two key scholars selected from the field of religion and belief
- two themes related to the relationship between religion and society, for example: the relationship between religious and other forms of identity; religion, equality and discrimination; religious freedom; the political and social influence of religious institutions; religious tolerance, respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims
- how developments in beliefs and practices have, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in philosophical, ethical, studies of religion and/or by textual interpretation.

The following grids exemplify how the required content has been developed in a clear and concise way into four themes.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 1: Religious figures and sacred texts
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Jesus – his birth: Consistency and credibility of the birth narratives (Matthew 1:18-2:23; Luke 1:26-2:40); harmonisation and redaction; interpretation and application of the birth narratives to the doctrine of the incarnation (substantial presence and the kenotic model).
B.	Jesus – his resurrection: The views of Rudolf Bultmann and N.T. Wright on the relation of the resurrection event to history; interpretation and application to the understanding of death, the soul, resurrected body and the afterlife, with reference to Matthew 10:28; John 20:21; 1 Corinthians 15; Philippians 1:21-24.
C.	The Bible as a source of wisdom and authority in daily life: The ways in which the Bible is considered authoritative: as a source of moral advice (Ecclesiastes 12:13-14; Luke 6:36-37); as a guide to living (Psalm 119:9-16; Psalm 119:105-112); as teaching on the meaning and purpose of life (Genesis 1:26-28; Ecclesiastes 9:5-9) and as a source of comfort and encouragement (Psalm 46:1-3; Matthew 6:25).
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which the birth narratives provide insight into the doctrine of the incarnation. • The relative importance of redaction criticism for understanding the biblical birth narratives. • The nature of the resurrected body. • The historical reliability of the resurrection. • The relative value of the Bible as teaching on the meaning and purpose of life. • The extent to which the Psalms studied offer a guide to living for Christians.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 1: Religious figures and sacred texts
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	The Bible as a source of wisdom and authority: How the Christian biblical canon was established. Diverse views on the Bible as the word of God: different understandings of inspiration (the objective view of inspiration; the subjective view of inspiration; John Calvin's doctrine of accommodation).
E.	The early church (in Acts of the Apostles): Its message and format: the kerygmata as presented by C. H. Dodd, with reference to Acts 2:14-39; 3:12-26. The challenges to the kerygmata (with reference to the historical value of the speeches in Acts and the work of Rudolf Bultmann). The adapting of the Christian message to suit the audience.
F.	Two views of Jesus: A comparison of the work of two key scholars, including their views of Jesus with reference to their different methods of studying Jesus: John Dominic Crossan and N. T. Wright. Crossan: Jesus the social revolutionary; using apocryphal gospels; seeing Jesus as a product of his time; what the words of Jesus would have meant in Jesus' time. Wright: Jesus the true Messiah; critical realism; texts as 'the articulation of worldviews'; seeks to find the best explanation for the traditions found in the Gospels.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which the Bible can be regarded as the inspired word of God. • Whether the Christian biblical canonical orders are inspired, as opposed to just the texts they contain. • The extent to which the kerygmata (within the areas of Acts studied) are of any value for Christians today. • Whether the speeches in Acts have any historical value. • The validity of using critical realism to understand Jesus. • The validity of using apocryphal gospels to understand Jesus.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 2: Religious concepts and religious life
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Religious concepts – the nature of God: Is God male? The issue of male language about God; the pastoral benefits and challenges of the model of Father; Sallie McFague and God as Mother. Can God suffer? The impassibility of God; the modern view of a suffering God illustrated by Jurgen Moltmann (The Crucified God).
B.	Religious concepts – the Trinity: The need for the doctrine of the Trinity: the nature and identity of Christ (issues of divinity and pre-existence) and Christ's relationship with the Father (co-equal and co-eternal). The origin of the Holy Spirit: the filioque controversy.
C.	Religious concepts – the Atonement: Three theories of the Atonement (which are not mutually exclusive): the death of Jesus as Christus Victor (with reference to the liberation of humanity from hostile powers); the death of Jesus as a substitution (both the belief that Jesus died as a substitute for humanity, and the belief that only the divine-human Jesus could act as a sacrifice by God for the sake of humanity); the death of Jesus as a moral example (of how to live and die). The underlying assumptions about the need for divine forgiveness and the conflict between the wrath and love of God in theories of the Atonement.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The validity of referring to God as mother. • The theological implications of a suffering God. • The monotheistic claims of the doctrine of the Trinity. • Whether the doctrine of the Trinity is necessary to understand the God of Christianity. • The extent to which the three theories of the Atonement are contradictory. • The extent to which the three theories suggest that the Christian God is cruel.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 2: Religious concepts and religious life
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Religious life – faith and works: Luther's arguments for justification by faith alone (with reference to Romans 1:17; 5:1; Ephesians 2:8-9; Galatians 2:16 and Luther's rejection of James 2:24); the Council of Trent as a response to Luther; E. P. Sanders and the role of works in justification.
E.	Religious life – the community of believers: The New Testament community of believers as a model for churches today (with reference to Acts 2:42-47); the role of churches in providing worship and sacraments, religious teaching, mission, service and outreach, and fellowship for the community of believers.
F.	Religious life – key moral principles: Selected key moral principles of Christianity: the importance of love of neighbour (Leviticus 19:34; Luke 10:25-28); God's love as a potential model for Christian behaviour (Exodus 34:6-7; 1 John 4:19-21); regard for truth (1 Samuel 12:24; Ephesians 4:25-27); the role of conscience (2 Corinthians 1:12; 1 Timothy 1:5); and the need for forgiveness (Matthew 6:14-15; Colossians 3:12-13).
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which both faith and works are aspects of justification. • The extent to which the New Testament letters support arguments for justification by faith alone. • Whether the main role of the Church is to provide religious teaching. • The extent to which contemporary Christian churches should follow the New Testament model. • Whether love of neighbour is the most important moral principle in Christianity. • The extent to which God's behaviour towards humans is the basis for Christian morality.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 3: Significant social and historical developments in religious thought
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Social developments in religious thought – attitudes towards wealth: The dangers of wealth (with reference to Mark 10:17-25; Matthew 6:25-34; Luke 12:33-34, 1 Timothy 6:10); apparent contradiction between biblical teaching on stewardship and the ascetic ideal; the prosperity gospel of the Word-Faith movement.
B.	Social developments in religious thought – migration and Christianity in the UK: The challenges of Christian migration to the UK, with reference to assimilation, provision of worship, style of worship and issues of culture. The reverse mission movement to the UK.
C.	The relationship between religion and society: religion, equality and discrimination. Social developments in religious thought – feminist theology and the changing role of men and women: The contribution of Mary Daly and Rosemary Radford Ruether to feminist theology. The changing role of men and women with reference to the issue of the ordination of women priests and bishops; the impact on the lives of believers and communities within Christianity today.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which wealth is a sign of God's blessing. • Whether the ascetic ideal is compatible with Christianity. • The extent to which the UK is a modern mission field. • The relative ease of assimilation of Christian migrants into Christian churches in the UK. • Whether men and women are equal in Christianity. • The extent to which feminist theology impacts modern Christian practice.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 3: Significant social and historical developments in religious thought
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	The relationship between religion and society: respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims. Historical developments in religious thought – challenges from secularisation: The conflicting religious and non-religious views on Christianity in the UK (the value of Christian faith schools; whether the UK can be called a 'Christian country'); beliefs conflicting with laws of the country; perceived challenges to Christianity (decline of role and status of Christianity; reduced impact in public life; restricted religious liberty).
E.	The relationship between religion and society: respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims. Historical developments in religious thought – challenges from science: Richard Dawkins' and Alister McGrath's contrasting views on the relationship between religion and science, and the nature of proof; the limits of science; the 'God of the gaps' argument.
F.	Historical developments in religious thought – challenges from pluralism and diversity within a tradition: Difference between religious pluralism and tolerance of religious diversity; the exclusivist and inclusivist views expressed in the Christian Bible (Deut 6:5; Joshua 23:16; John 14:6; Acts 4:12); the contribution of John Hick and Karl Rahner to Christian inclusivism (and the difference between their positions); the differences between Christian universalism and pluralistic universalism.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The effectiveness of the Christian response to the challenge of secularism. • The extent to which the UK can be called a Christian country. • The extent to which a scientist must be an atheist. • Whether science has reduced the role of God in Christianity. • The extent to which it is possible to be both a committed Christian and a religious pluralist. • The extent to which the Christian Bible promotes exclusivism.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 4: Religious practices that shape religious identity
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Religious identity through diversity in baptism: The case for infant baptism by Augustine and Zwingli (the role of baptism in salvation; the role and importance of Christian parents); the case for believer's baptism with reference to Karl Barth (the example of Christ; importance of consent).
B.	Religious identity through diversity in Eucharist: The importance of the Eucharist in the life of contemporary Christian communities; selected Roman Catholic theories (transubstantiation, transignification and transfinalization); selected Protestant approaches (consubstantiation and memorialism); the similarities in Eucharistic practice in Christian traditions.
C.	Religious identity through diversity in festivals: Christmas The similarities (with reference to the focus on incarnation of Christ) and differences (date of celebration; focus of Advent season; Christmas services) between the Eastern Orthodox and the Western churches' celebration of Christmas. Easter The similarities (with reference to the doctrine of the resurrection of Christ) and differences (date; liturgical practice at Easter; the diversity within each stream of tradition) between the Eastern Orthodox and the Western churches' celebration of Easter.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which both infant and adult baptism are just symbolic acts. • The criteria for expressing the commitment to be baptised. • The extent to which there is any common ground within contemporary understandings of the Eucharist. • The extent to which theoretical beliefs about the Eucharist affect the practice of different denominations. • Whether the different emphases and practices mean that Easter is a different celebration in the Eastern Orthodox and Western churches. • The relative importance of Easter and Christmas.

Option A: A Study of Christianity

Theme 4: Religious practices that shape religious identity
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Religious identity through unification: The development of the Ecumenical Movement since 1910 (World Missionary Conference); the World Council of Churches, its rationale, its mission and its work in three main areas: Unity, Mission, and Ecumenical Relations; Public Witness and Diakonia; and Ecumenical Formation.
How developments in beliefs and practices have, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in philosophical, ethical studies of religion.
E.	Religious identity through religious experience: The development of the Charismatic Movement post-1960; main beliefs; implications for Christian practice in the experience of believers and Christian communities; philosophical challenges to charismatic experience (verification and natural explanation).
F.	Religious identity through responses to poverty and injustice: The basis (political, ethical and religious) of South American liberation theology with reference to Gustavo Gutierrez and Leonardo Boff; Roman Catholic Church responses to South American liberation theology.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether the work of the World Council of Churches can be viewed as a success or a failure. • The extent to which the non-membership of the Roman Catholic Church affects the aims of the World Council of Churches. • The strengths and weaknesses of the Charismatic Movement. • Whether a natural explanation for charismatic experiences conflicts with the religious value of the experience. • Whether the political and ethical foundations of liberation theology are more important than any religious foundations. • The extent to which liberation theology offered a cultural challenge to the Roman Catholic Church.

Option B: A Study of Islam

Theme 1: Religious figures and sacred texts
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	The significance in the development of Islam of both the life and teachings of Muhammad in Makkah following the Night of Power: Life at the time of Muhammad - Jahiliyya (ignorance) and the need for revelation: the main religious, social, political and moral characteristics of pre-Islamic Arabia. The impact of the Night of Power (Sura 97:1-5) upon Muhammad. Muhammad's secretive preaching and early reactions towards his religious experience and teachings. Muhammad's open preaching in Makkah and the nature of this message. The Makkan reaction to Muhammad and its implication for the development of Islam.
B.	The significance in the development of Islam of both the Hijrah and the life and teachings of Muhammad in Madinah: The context of persecution of Muhammad and his followers in Makkah as a major influence of the Hijrah (migration) including verbal abuse, physical abuse and death threats. The Hijrah as an 'escape' and guided by God. The welcome from Madinah and the establishment of the basic tenets of Islam, including the establishment of the first masjid. Muhammad as religious, moral, political and military leader in Madinah.
C.	The Qur'an as a source of wisdom and authority – its use and treatment in Islam: Source of wisdom and authority: The nature of the Qur'an as the final revelation. Specific reference to Sura 15:9, Sura 51:47 and Sura 96:1-5. The divine characteristics of the Qur'an as God-given and not distorted by human messengers. An overview of the compilation of the Qur'an. Use and treatment of the Qur'an: The Qur'an as a guide for humanity for all time. Islamic views about 'translations' of the Qur'an; integrity of the original Arabic; translation as interpretation. The physical treatment of the Qur'an reflecting its status.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent of influence of the pre-Islamic Arabian context upon the life and teaching of Muhammad. • The possibility of the failure of the Islamic religion in Makkah. • Whether Madinah is the ideal model for the establishment of Islam. • The merits of Muhammad as a complete leader of the people. • The extent to which the Qur'an is eternally relevant. • Whether the message of the Qur'an can ever be translated with accuracy.

Option B: A Study of Islam

Theme 1: Religious figures and sacred texts
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Sources of shari'a (the way) - Qur'an; sunna (clear trodden path) and hadith (report); qiyas (analogy); ijma (consensus): The significance of sunna for Muslims and the development of hadith. The different categories of hadith in relation to the overall reliability of text and chain of transmission. The development of qiyas and ijma. The work of Al-Shafi in devising a methodology for fiqh (deep understanding) of shari'a. The establishments of the major law schools in applying fiqh within Islam.
E.	The role of shari'a and its importance for Muslims: Different understandings of the term shari'a and the different ways in which it is applied by Muslims throughout the world today with reference to: shari'a as civil law; shari'a as religious law and shari'a as a moral guide. The role of the mujtahid (jurist) and taqlid (imitation). Specific reference to the debates surrounding ijihad (intellectual struggle) and contrasting views from within Sunni and Shi'a Islam on ijihad. A comparison of the approaches taken by Salafi scholar Rashid Rida and Islamic scholar Abdullahi Ahmed An-Na'im.
F.	Muslim understandings of jihad: The different meanings of jihad (struggle) both greater and lesser. The importance and significance of greater jihad as a personal spiritual struggle for every Muslim. The historical context and the specific conditions of lesser jihad. The problems in applying lesser jihad today with specific reference to modern warfare.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The divine nature of the shari'a. • The extent to which human interpretation may impair understanding of shari'a. • The extent to which a description of shari'a as law is misleading. • Whether or not the doors to ijihad are closed. • Misunderstandings of the term jihad. • The relevance today of the teachings about lesser jihad.

Option B: A Study of Islam

Theme 2: Religious concepts and religious life
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	The concept of Allah – tawhid (oneness) and shahadah (bearing witness): Tawhid as statement of uncompromising monotheism. Tawhid as the nature of God as 'one' with reference to Sura 112. God as sole creator, omnipotent and yet merciful. God as beyond words and descriptions. Attributes of God as metaphors and symbols. God as transcendent and imminent. Shirk (attributing partners) as opposition to tawhid. Shahadah as recognition of tawhid. Declaring faith or bearing witness to God's unity and the unique nature of Muhammad as prophet of God. The power of the shahadah as a public statement of truth as well as a declaration of personal faith. The role of the shahadah in conversion. Shahadah as underlining the meaning and purpose of life in Islam: belief in one God; Muhammad as messenger and an exemplary Muslim.
B.	Muslim beliefs about nabi (prophets), rasul (messenger), nadir (warner) and risalah (the message): The role of a nabi (prophet) as a rasul (messenger) or nadir (warner) - Qur'an 3:144, 46:9. Perceived and popular distinction between nabi and rasul. The associated messages of previous prophets with specific reference to Ibrahim (Sahifa), Musa (Torah), Dawud (Zabur) and Isa (Injil) and their distorted nature. Muhammad as the 'Seal of the Prophets' (Qur'an 46:9). Muhammad's character and uniqueness (Qur'an 33:21).
C.	Malaikah (angels) and Akhirah (the Day of Final Judgement): Malaikah as intermediaries for God. The nature and purpose of angels. The specific roles of Jibril, Mikail and Israfil. God as Judge, and Akhirah (Day of Final Judgement). The significance of events from the last trumpet onward. Depictions of heaven and hell with reference to Sura 47:15 and Sura 67:7-10. Akhirah as underlining the meaning and purpose of life: submission and reward.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which the Islamic concept of Allah is coherent. • Whether the Shahadah is more to do with private faith than public declaration. • Whether or not the concept of 'messenger' has been a success for Islam. • The extent to which Muhammad was the ideal prophet and messenger. • Whether the Day of Final Judgement inspires fear or faith. • The extent to which the concept of Malaikah (angels) is essential for Islam.

A.	The nature of ultimate reality: The three lakshanas (three marks of existence): dukkha, anicca and anatta: The concepts of dukkha and anicca: with reference to the Dhammacakkappavattana Sutta. The concept of anatta with reference to Section 1 Chapter 1 of the Chariot Passage of the Questions of King Milinda.
B.	The nature of ultimate reality: Pratityasamutpada, karma and rebirth: The notions of pratityasamutpada and rebirth: with reference to the iconography of the bhavachakra. The notion of karma: with reference to the Dhammapada, Chapter 1 'The Pairs' and Chapter 9 'Evil'. The importance of rooting out of greed, hatred and delusion and not speculating about the existence of God and other metaphysical questions (Parable of the Poisoned Arrow – Majjhima Nikaya 63).
C.	Arhat and bodhisattva - Theravada and Mahayana teachings: Four stages of Awakening: stream-winner, once-returner, non-returner, arhat (worthy one). Characteristics of bodhisattvas: Six or ten paramitas (perfections), bhumis (stages), the vow to bring all suffering beings to Awakening and the interrelationship between wisdom and compassion.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The three lakshanas as representative of reality. • The three lakshanas as the most important teachings of Buddhism. • The teachings of pratityasamutpada, karma and rebirth as representative of reality. • The legitimacy of rejecting questions about the existence of God. • The concepts of bodhisattva and arhat as an essential feature of Buddhism. • The relative legitimacy of concepts of bodhisattva and arhat.

D.	The Four Noble Truths: The three types of dukkha - dukkha-dukkha (painful experience); viparinama-dukkha (changing nature of existence); sankhara-dukkha (the contingent nature of existence); the medical metaphor (the Buddha as a physician, diagnosing the symptoms, identifying cause and providing a prescription) and the notions of tanha (thirst), nirodha (cessation) and magga (the path).
E.	The Eightfold Path – key moral principles: The Threefold Trainings: wisdom, morality and meditation. The relationship of the Eightfold Path with the Middle Way. The Eightfold Path within the context of the diversity of Buddhism. Exemplification of ways in which the Eightfold Path is practised and its significance for Buddhist morality.
F.	The dasa sila (ten precepts) – key moral principles: Exemplification of the application of the dasa sila (ten precepts) within the community of believers: lay people and the monastic sangha. The different complementary roles of the lay and monastic sanghas. The notion of the precepts as training aspirations rather than commandments for the community of believers and the role of the monastic sangha in keeping the precepts on behalf of the wider sangha.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Four Noble Truths as essential for all Buddhists. • The Four Noble truths as accurate accounts of reality. • The usefulness of the Eightfold Path as a moral guide for all Buddhists affecting every aspect of life. • The relationship between behaviour and Awakening. • The relative importance of the dasa sila (ten precepts) as a means of regulating the sangha. • The contemporary relevance of precepts and monastic life.

Option D: A Study of Buddhism

Theme 3: Significant social and historical developments in religious thought
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Historical development of Buddhism: The development of key Buddhist traditions in Japan - Zen, Pure Land and Nichiren, with particular reference to the central practices of koan (paradoxical statement used as a practice in Zen traditions), nembutsu (going for refuge in Amida/Amitabha Buddha in Pure Land traditions) and daimoku (mantra used in Nichiren traditions).
B.	The relationship between religion and society: respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims. Responses to the challenges from science: The tension between presentations of Buddhism as avoiding 'blind faith' and emphasising the realisation of truth in experience (with reference to the Kalama Sutta v.9 & 10). Asian Buddhist worldviews populated with a diversity of beings and realms. The Dalai Lama's assessment of the value of science.
C.	The relationship between religion and society: respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims. Responses to the challenges from secularisation: Buddhism's frequent presentation in the West as a secular philosophy, with reference to Stephen Batchelor (a Buddhist Atheist) and his presentation of Buddhism as a rational philosophy and way of life, and David Brazier, who claims Buddhism is a religion.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which Japanese Buddhism is unique. • The importance of koan, nembutsu and daimoku as expressions of Buddhist teachings. • The extent to which there is a close relationship between Buddhism and science. • Ways in which scientific worldview and Buddhism are incompatible. • The legitimacy of Western presentations of Buddhism as atheistic and secular. • The question of whether Buddhism is a religion.

D.	The relationship between religion and society: respect and recognition and the ways that religious traditions view other religions and non-religious worldviews and their truth claims. Responses to the challenges of pluralism and diversity: Emphasis within Buddhism on the individual testing the teachings and staying true to experience, even if that means following a path different to Buddhism (with reference to the Kalama Sutta v. 9 & 10 and Majjhima Nikaya 56.16 - the Buddha's conversation with Upali). In Mahayana Buddhism the teachings are sometimes considered to be only provisional, different upaya (skilful means) to suit different listeners. Many Buddhists would consider that there is good within all religions and they should be respected (Edicts of Emperor Ashoka, Rock Edict NB 7 and Rock Edict NB 12).
E.	Historical development of Buddhism: Buddhism in Britain, distinguishing between 'heritage' Buddhism (the Buddhism of those whose relatives were born in Buddhist countries and migrated to Britain) and 'convert' Buddhism. Possible reasons for the popularity of Buddhism in Britain.
F.	The relationship between religion and society: religion, equality and discrimination. The changing roles of men and women including feminist approaches within Buddhism: Different views in Buddhism about whether women can be nuns or attain awakening. The Buddha ordained women, after persuasion. The Lotus Sutra presents a range of teachings: all equally possess the potential to attain Buddhahood; the Dragon King's daughter (Chapter 12) transforms into a man before attaining awakening. Buddhism's commitment to the end of suffering may be seen as inherently feminist (as indicated by Rita Gross). Cultural stereotypes of the roles of men and women have no universal application within Buddhism.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which Buddhism's openness means it is in danger of losing its own identity. • The value of experience compared to other potential sources of authority in Buddhism. • The unique nature of British Buddhism in comparison with Buddhism found in other countries. • The comparative legitimacy of 'convert' Buddhism with 'heritage' Buddhism. • The comparative significance of features which contribute to the popularity of Buddhism in Britain. • The extent to which Buddhism aligns with feminism.

Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Going for refuge: A consideration of the chanting practice of going for refuge three times, the meanings of each (Buddha, dharma and sangha) for both heritage and convert Buddhists. The three refuges in the context of other possible refuges in the modern world: with reference to materialism, relationships, secular values and political beliefs.
B.	Meditation: The importance of meditation in Buddhism and awareness of specific features of different traditions of meditation: vipassana (insight/clear seeing), samatha (calmness), metta bhavana (loving kindness) and zazen (just sitting). How these practices are used for accessing the true nature of reality, and for cultivating qualities which lead to awakening.
C.	The role and importance of dana (giving) and punya (merit): The role and importance of selfless generosity/giving or sharing of time/money/possessions. The role of the Buddhist community in supporting those both inside and outside the community. The role and importance of punya – the concept of the merit gained and accumulated as a result of good deeds, acts, or thoughts and which carries over throughout life or in subsequent rebirths, and may be transferred to others.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The relevance of going for refuge in the modern world. • The relative value of each of the three refuges. • The value and relevance of meditation for all Buddhists today. • The relative importance of different traditions of meditation. • The significance of the practice of dana in its relationship to the notion of punya. • The relative importance of dana and punya compared with other Buddhist teachings.

The response of Slavoj Zizek - that by encouraging stress-release, mindfulness serves capitalism rather than challenges it.
F.	Socially Engaged Buddhism - 'liberationist' traditions: The reasons for the development of Socially Engaged Buddhism: Thich Nhat Hanh's Mindfulness Trainings; the primary drive to combat suffering (not just on achieving a positive rebirth or awakening for oneself); it is supported by high profile individuals such as the Dalai Lama (non-violent protest with regards to Tibet); it receives high media coverage, it has links to supporting organisations such as Sakyadhita and the Buddhist Peace Fellowship. The views of Joanna Macy and Damien Keown on this movement.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The unique nature of Vajrayana Buddhism. • The centrality of practices as expressions of Buddhist ideas. • The extent to which the contemporary Mindfulness movement can be considered to be Buddhist. • The extent to which the contemporary Mindfulness movement offers an antidote to suffering. • Social justice as a requisite for the observance of Buddhist teachings. • Social engagement as a distraction on the path to Awakening.

A.	The life and teachings of Guru Nanak: Influence of background and socio-religious ideas of his time on key teachings: Invasion of Mughal army and Mughal persecution; influence of Sufism; influence of Lalla; north-Indian sant tradition; Monotheism in Islam; use of devotional songs; status/role of women in Islam and caste in Hinduism – Adi Granth 150 and Adi Granth 91. Relationship between key events in his life and specific teachings: Guru Nanak's horoscope at his birth and the acknowledgement of One Formless Lord. His experience of God's court, his teaching that God is neither Hindu nor Muslim; his mission to reveal the message of God's name to the world. His meeting with Sajjan and his teaching of what true religion is - the jannam sakhi episodes. Guru Nanak's teaching against the caste system; raising the status of women; foundation of the institution of the guru; rejection of the sacred thread ceremony and Hindu rituals; his establishment of community at Kartapur based on Sikh principles.
B.	Guru Gobind Singh's contribution to the development of Sikhism: The relationship of his actions with Nanak's vision – both as protector and restorer; his defence of Sikhism in the face of attacks and persecution; his development of Sikhism as a religion with a strong identity - prepared to defend its beliefs and principles; and community orientation – founded the Khalsa; introduced the amrit ceremony as initiation and wearing of 5Ks; the adoption of names Singh and Kaur; welcomed women and members of all castes into the community; contributed to the compilation and content of Dasam Granth; interpretation and new concept of Guru – the Guru Panth; the development of the Guru Granth Sahib.
C.	The Guru Granth Sahib as a source of wisdom and authority – its use and treatment in worship and daily life: Its legal and theological status – regarded as a living Guru with full authority of Gurus' teaching and treated with same devotion and respect; all decisions taken in presence of Guru Granth; all ceremonies and rites of passage to be completed in its presence; it is the basis of all sermons and the authority as the basis of Sikh teaching on the nature of God, faith and salvation, the difference between Adi Granth and Guru Granth; role of Muslim and Hindu writings within its pages - Sheik Farid - Guru Granth Sahib – 448, 1384; Bhagat Ramanand – Guru Granth Sahib – 1195; creation of gurmukhi script; its role as more than a visible focal point for Sikh devotions – taking the place of living Gurus; it guides Sikhs in daily life – vak lao (taking advice).
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which Guru Nanak was a religious innovator. • The relative importance of Guru Nanak's background and other key events in his life on his teaching. • The extent to which Guru Gobind Singh changed or developed the Sikhism of Guru Nanak. • The influence of Guru Gobind Singh on Sikh identity. • The relevance of the Guru Granth Sahib for Sikhs today. • The extent to which the Guru Granth Sahib can be viewed as an object of worship for Sikhs.

Option F: A Study of Sikhism

Theme 1: Religious figures and sacred texts
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Role and significance of the texts of Mul Mantra and the Japji of Guru Nanak: The Mul Mantra and the Japji of Guru Nanak – a study of their philosophical content: liberating and awesome presence of God – evil thoughts can only be cleansed through God's name; interpretation and application in worship; personal meditation and initiation – use in the amrit ceremony; preparation for worship in the gurdwara; epilogue to gurdwara services; summary of Sikh beliefs about God.
E.	The contribution made to the development of Sikh thought through the works of: Guru Arjan - a period of Sikh growth: Guru Arjan's missionary journeys to Majha region; expansion of Jat influx into Sikh panth; fight against Mughal tyranny; His example of the temporal and spiritual teaching of Sikhism; authorship of the Sukhamni (hymn of peace); safeguarding and developing principles of Guru Nanak; development of tithing within Sikhism. His building of Harmandir at Amritsar – architectural features reflecting Sikh beliefs, such as humility before God and all castes being equal. Compilation of Adi Granth to promote truth, peace and contemplation; his vision for Sikhism (Adi Granth 396 and Adi Granth 1136).
F.	Maharaja Ranjit Singh and the founding of the Sikh empire: His background and early life; the founding of the Khalsa; political sovereignty in the Punjab; his success in creating a golden age for Sikhism; features of the secular empire - no discrimination and religious freedom.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The relative importance of the Mul Mantra and the Japji of Guru Nanak in Sikh worship. • The relative importance of the Japji of Guru Nanak and the Mul Mantra as statements of faith within Sikhism. • The relative merits of the contributions to Sikhism of Guru Arjan. • The extent to which the status of the Gurus is over exaggerated in Sikhism. • The extent to which the Sikh empire of Maharaja Ranjit Singh was religious. • The extent to which Maharaja Ranjit Singh can be regarded as more important in the development of Sikhism than Guru Arjan.

Option F: A Study of Sikhism

Theme 2: Religious concepts and religious life
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Exploring Sikh teachings concerning self, death, afterlife and meaning and purpose of life, with reference to: Philosophical understanding of the Sikh concept of God: God is the one, the only one and the one without a second; symbolism of Ik Onkar (Adi Granth 929,1035,1037); God as personal – Adi Granth 784, 1190; God as nirguna (without attributes) and saguna (with attributes); God as omnipotent and omniscient; God as creator and sustainer of life – Adi Granth 25, 684,700; God as immanent and transcendent.
B.	The soul: Nature of the soul - divine spark of Waheguru, ethereal and non-material; union with Waheguru. The aim of breaking cycle of rebirth; journey of the soul through many life forms to attain this aim; stages of development on the path of enlightenment including stage of Saram Khand (the realm of spiritual endeavour) and Karam Khand (the realm of grace); monist and monotheistic understanding of the relationship between God and the soul.
C.	Karma, rebirth and mukti: Philosophical understanding of the path of liberation – replacement of ignorance by spiritual enlightenment affected by God's Grace – it is the meaning and purpose of life; the role of karma and transmigration of the soul; union with God as the meaning and purpose of Sikh life - Adi Granth 1127, 905, 275.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The relevant importance of the Sikh concept of God in relation to other concepts. • Whether the most important Sikh teaching about God is that God is personal. • The impact of Sikh teachings about the soul on the Sikh view of humanity. • The relationship between God and the soul in Sikhism – monist or monotheistic. • The relevance of Sikh beliefs about rebirth and mukti for Sikhs today. • The influence of belief in karma on Sikh lifestyle.

2.2 Component 2

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Written examination: 2 hours

33⅓% of qualification

100 marks

This component provides learners with the opportunity to undertake an in-depth and broad study of fundamental philosophical themes, ranging from arguments for the existence of God to the use of religious language.

This component includes the study of the following content:

- philosophical issues and questions raised by religion and belief including at least three contrasting arguments about the existence or non-existence of God, gods or ultimate reality
- the nature and influence of religious experience
- challenges to religious belief such as the problems of evil and suffering
- philosophical language and thought through significant concepts and the works of key thinkers, illustrated in issues or debates in the philosophy of religion
- how views of religious language have changed over time; the challenges posed by the verification/falsification debate and language games theory over whether religious language should be viewed cognitively or non-cognitively; and a consideration of at least two different views about religious teachings being understood symbolically and analogically
- a comparison of the significant ideas presented in works of at least two key scholars selected from the field of the philosophy of religion, and developments in the way these ideas are applied to issues in religion and belief
- how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices, ethics or textual interpretation.

The following grids exemplify how the required content has been developed in a clear and concise way into four themes.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 1: Arguments for the existence of God – inductive
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Inductive arguments – cosmological: Inductive proofs; the concept of ‘a posteriori ’. Cosmological argument: St Thomas Aquinas’ first Three Ways - (motion or change; cause and effect; contingency and necessity). The Kalam cosmological argument with reference to William Lane Craig (rejection of actual infinities and concept of personal creator).
B.	Inductive arguments – teleological: St Thomas Aquinas’ Fifth Way - concept of governance; archer and arrow analogy. William Paley’s watchmaker - analogy of complex design. F. R. Tennant’s anthropic and aesthetic arguments - the universe specifically designed for intelligent human life.
C.	Challenges to inductive arguments: David Hume - empirical objections and critique of causes (cosmological). David Hume - problems with analogies; rejection of traditional theistic claims: designer not necessarily God of classical theism; apprentice god; plurality of gods; absent god (teleological). Alternative scientific explanations including Big Bang theory and Charles Darwin’s theory of evolution by natural selection.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether inductive arguments for God’s existence are persuasive. • The extent to which the Kalam cosmological argument is convincing. • The effectiveness of the cosmological/teleological argument for God’s existence. • Whether cosmological/teleological arguments for God’s existence are persuasive in the 21st century. • The effectiveness of the challenges to the cosmological/teleological argument for God’s existence. • Whether scientific explanations are more persuasive than philosophical explanations for the universe’s existence.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 1: Arguments for the existence of God – deductive
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Deductive arguments - origins of the ontological argument Deductive proofs; the concept of ' a priori '. St Anselm - God as the greatest possible being (Proslogion 2). St Anselm - God has necessary existence (Proslogion 3).
E.	Deductive arguments - developments of the ontological argument: Rene Descartes - concept of God as supremely perfect being; analogies of triangles and mountains/valleys. Norman Malcolm - God as unlimited being: God's existence as necessary rather than just possible.
F.	Challenges to the ontological argument: Gaunilo, his reply to St Anselm; his rejection of the idea of a greatest possible being that can be thought of as having separate existence outside of our minds; his analogy of the idea of the greatest island as a ridicule of St Anselm's logic. Immanuel Kant's objection - existence is not a determining predicate: it cannot be a property that an object can either possess or lack.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which 'a priori' arguments for God's existence are persuasive. • The extent to which different religious views on the nature of God impact on arguments for the existence of God. • The effectiveness of the ontological argument for God's existence. • Whether the ontological argument is more persuasive than the cosmological/teleological arguments for God's existence. • The effectiveness of the challenges to the ontological argument for God's existence. • The extent to which objections to the ontological argument are persuasive.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 2: Challenges to religious belief - the problem of evil and suffering This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	The problem of evil and suffering: The types of evil: moral (caused by free will agents) and natural (caused by nature). The logical problem of evil: classical (Epicurus) - the problem of suffering. J. L. Mackie's modern development - the nature of the problem of evil (inconsistent triad). William Rowe (intense human and animal suffering) and Gregory S. Paul (premature deaths).
B.	Religious responses to the problem of evil (i): Augustinian type theodicy: Evil as a consequence of sin: evil as a privation; the fall of human beings and creation; the Cross overcomes evil, soul-deciding; challenges to Augustinian type theodicies: validity of accounts in Genesis, Chapters 2 and 3; scientific error - biological impossibility of human descent from a single pair (therefore invalidating the 'inheritance of Adam's sin'); moral contradictions of omnibenevolent God and existence of Hell; contradiction of perfect order becoming chaotic - geological and biological evidence suggests the contrary.
C.	Religious responses to the problem of evil (ii): Irenaean type theodicy: Vale of soul-making: human beings created imperfect; epistemic distance; second-order goods; eschatological justification; challenges to Irenaean type theodicies: concept of universal salvation unjust; evil and suffering should not be used as a tool by an omnibenevolent God; immensity of suffering and unequal distribution of evil and suffering.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent to which the classical form of the problem of evil is a problem. • The degree to which modern problem of evil arguments are effective in proving God's non-existence. • Whether Augustinian type theodicies are relevant in the 21st century. • The extent to which Augustine's theodicy succeeds as a defence of the God of Classical Theism. • Whether Irenaean type theodicies are credible in the 21st century. • The extent to which Irenaeus's theodicy succeeds as a defence of the God of Classical Theism.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 2: Challenges to religious belief - Religious belief as a product of the human mind This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Religious belief as a product of the human mind – Sigmund Freud: Religion as an illusion and/or a neurosis with reference to collective neurosis; primal horde; Oedipus complex; wish fulfilment and reaction against helplessness. Supportive evidence including reference to redirection of guilt complexes and reference to instinctive desires deriving from evolutionary basis (Charles Darwin). Challenges including lack of anthropological evidence for primal horde; no firm psychological evidence for universal Oedipus complex; evidence basis too narrow.
E.	Religious belief as a product of the human mind – Carl Jung: Religion necessary for personal growth with reference to: collective unconscious; individuation; archetypes; the God within. Supportive evidence including recognition of religion as a source of comfort and promotion of positive personal and social mindsets arising from religious belief. Challenges including lack of empirical evidence for Jungian concepts and reductionist views regarding religious belief arising from acceptance of Jung's ideas.
F.	Issues relating to rejection of religion: Atheism: Rejection of belief in deities; the difference between agnosticism and atheism; the rise of New Atheism (antitheism); its main criticisms of religion: non-thinking; infantile worldview; impedes scientific progress. Religious responses to the challenge of New Atheism: rejection by religious groups of New Atheist claims regarding incompatibility of science and religion; increase in fundamentalist religious activity relating to morality and community; increase in religious apologists in media.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How far religious belief can be considered a neurosis. • The adequacy of Freud's explanation of religious belief. • The extent to which Jung was more positive than Freud about the idea of God. • The effectiveness of empirical approaches as critiques of Jungian views on religion. • The success of atheistic arguments against religious belief. • The extent to which religious responses to New Atheism have been successful.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 3: Religious Experience
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	The nature of religious experience with particular reference to: Visions – sensory; intellectual; dreams. Conversion – individual/communal; sudden/gradual. Mysticism – transcendent; ecstatic and unitive. Prayer – types and stages of prayer according to Teresa of Avila.
B.	Mystical experience: William James’ four characteristics of mystical experience: ineffable, noetic, transient and passive. Rudolf Otto – the concept of the numinous; mysterium tremendum; the human predisposition for religious experience.
C.	Challenges to the objectivity and authenticity of religious experience: With reference to Caroline Franks Davis (description-related; subject-related and object-related challenges). Claims of religious experience rejected on grounds of misunderstanding; claims delusional - possibly related to substance misuse, fantastical claims contrary to everyday experiences. Challenges: individual experiences valid even if non-verifiable; claims could be genuine - integrity of individual; one-off experiences can still be valid even if never repeated.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The impact of religious experiences upon religious belief and practice. • Whether different types of religious experience can be accepted as equally valid in communicating religious teachings and beliefs. • The adequacy of James’ four characteristics in defining mystical experience. • The adequacy of Otto’s definition of ‘numinous’. • The extent to which the challenges to religious experience are valid. • The persuasiveness of Franks Davis’ different challenges.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 3: Religious experience
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	The influence of religious experience on religious practice and faith: Value for religious community including: affirmation of belief system; promotion of faith value system; strengthening cohesion of religious community. Value for individual including faith restoring; strengthening faith in face of opposition; renewal of commitment to religious ideals and doctrines.
E.	Miracles the definitions of: St Thomas Aquinas (miracles different from the usual order), David Hume (transgression of a law of nature), R.F. Holland (contingency miracle), Richard Swinburne (religious significance). Consideration of reasons why religious believers accept that miracles occur: evidence from sacred writings; affirmation of faith traditions; personal experience.
F.	A comparative study of two key scholars from within and outside the Christian tradition and their contrasting views on the possibility of miracles: David Hume – his scepticism of miracles including challenges relating to testimony based belief; credibility of witnesses; susceptibility of belief; contradictory nature of faith claims. Richard Swinburne – his defence of miracles, including definitions of natural laws and contradictions of Hume's arguments regarding contradictory nature of faith claims and credibility of witnesses.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The impact of religious experiences upon religious belief and practice. • Whether religious communities are entirely dependent on religious experiences. • The adequacy of different definitions of miracles. • How far different definitions of miracles can be considered as contradictory. • The effectiveness of the challenges to belief in miracles. • The extent to which Swinburne's responses to Hume can be accepted as valid.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 4: Religious language
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Inherent problems of religious language: Limitations of language for traditional conceptions of God such as infinite and timeless; challenge to sacred texts and religious pronouncements as unintelligible; challenge that religious language is not a common shared base and experience; the differences between cognitive and non-cognitive language.
B.	Religious language as cognitive (traditional religious view), but meaningless (Logical Positivists' view): Logical Positivism - Verification (A. J. Ayer) – religious ethical language as meaningless; there can be no way in which we could verify the truth or falsehood of the propositions (e.g. God is good, murder is wrong); falsification nothing can counter the belief (Antony Flew). Criticisms of verification: the verification principle cannot itself be verified; neither can historical events; universal scientific statements; the concept of eschatological verification goes against this. Criticisms of falsification: Richard Hare – bliks (the way that a person views the world gives meaning to them even if others do not share the same view); Basil Mitchell – partisan and the stranger (certain things can be meaningful even when they cannot be falsified); Swinburne – toys in the cupboard (concept meaningful even though falsifying the statement is not possible).
C.	Religious language as non-cognitive and analogical: Proportion and attribution (St Thomas Aquinas) and qualifier and disclosure (Ian Ramsey). Challenges including how far analogies can give meaningful insights into religious language. A consideration of how these two views (Aquinas/Ramsey) can be used to help understand religious teachings.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The solutions presented by religious philosophers for the inherent problems of using religious language. • The exclusive context of religious belief for an understanding of religious language. • The persuasiveness of arguments asserting either the meaningfulness or meaninglessness of religious language. • How far Logical Positivism should be accepted as providing a valid criterion for meaning in the use of language. • To what extent do the challenges to Logical Positivism provide convincing arguments to non-religious believers. • Whether non-cognitive interpretations are valid responses to the challenges to the meaning of religious language.

Component 2: Philosophy of Religion

Theme 4: Religious language
This theme considers how the philosophy of religion has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Religious language as non-cognitive and symbolic: Functions of symbols (John Randall); God as that which concerns us ultimately (Paul Tillich). Challenges including whether a symbol is adequate or gives the right insights. A consideration of how these two views (Randall/Tillich) can be used to help understand religious teachings.
E.	Religious language as non-cognitive and mythical: Complex form of mythical language that communicates values and insights into purpose of existence. Supportive evidence – different forms of myths to convey meaning: creation myths; myths of good against evil; heroic myths. Myths help to overcome fears of the unknown; myths effective way of transmitting religious, social and ethical values. Challenges: problem of competing myths; meanings of myths change over time as they reflect the values of society as societal constructs; demythologisation of myths results in varying interpretations, myths often incompatible with scientific understanding of the world.
F.	Religious language as a language game: Meaningful to people who participate in same language game (Ludwig Wittgenstein). Supportive evidence – non-cognitive form of language provides meaning to participants within language game; consider use of language not meaning; language games fit with coherence theory of truth; religious language as expressions of belief. Challenges, including rejection of any true propositions in religion that can be empirically verified; does not allow for meaningful conversations between different groups of language users; does not provide adequate meaning for the word 'God'.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The effectiveness of the terms non-cognitive, analogical and mythical as solutions to the problems of religious language. • The relevance of religious language issues in the 21st century. • The extent to which language games provide a suitable way of resolving the problems of religious language. • Whether symbolic language can be agreed as having adequate meaning as a form of language. • How far the works of Randall and Tillich provide a suitable counter-challenge to Logical Positivism. • Whether the strengths of language games outweigh the weaknesses.

2.3 Component 3

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Written examination: 2 hours

33⅓% of qualification

100 marks

This component provides learners with the opportunity to undertake an in-depth and broad study of fundamental ethical themes, ranging from ethical language and thought to freewill and determinism.

This component includes the study of the following content:

- ethical language and thought through significant concepts and the works of key thinkers, illustrated in issues or debates in religion and ethics
- three normative ethical theories such as deontological, teleological or character based ethics (at least two of which must be religious approaches)
- the application of ethical theory to two personal, societal or global issues of importance, including religious ethical perspectives
- how ethical language in the modern era has changed over time; including a study of meta-ethical theories and significant ideas in religious and moral thought such as free will, conscience or authority
- a comparison of the significant ideas presented in the works of at least two key scholars selected from the field of religion and ethics, and developments in the way these ideas are applied to significant issues in religion and belief
- how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices, the philosophy of religion and/or textual interpretation.

The following grids exemplify how the required content has been developed in a clear and concise way into four themes.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 1: Ethical Thought
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A. Divine Command Theory:	God as the origin and regulator of morality; right or wrong as objective truths based on God's will/command, moral goodness is achieved by complying with divine command; divine command a requirement of God's omnipotence; divine command as an objective meta-physical foundation for morality. Robert Adams' 'Modified Divine Command Theory' (divine command based on God's omnibenevolence). Challenges: the Euthyphro dilemma (inspired by Plato); arbitrariness problem (divine command theory renders morality as purely arbitrary); pluralism objection (different religions claim different divine commands).
B. Virtue Theory:	Ethical system based on defining the personal qualities that make a person moral; the focus on a person's character rather than their specific actions; Aristotle's moral virtues (based on the deficiency; the excess and the mean); Jesus' teachings on virtues (the Beatitudes). Challenges: virtues are not a practical guide to moral behaviour; issue of cultural relativism (ideas on the good virtues are not universal); virtues can be used for immoral acts.
C. Ethical Egoism:	Agent focused ethic based on self-interest as opposed to altruism; ethical theory that matches the moral agent's psychological state (psychological egoism); concentration on long term self-interests rather than short term interests; Max Stirner, is self-interest the root cause of every human action even if it appears altruistic? Rejection of egoism for material gain; union of egoists. Challenges: destruction of a community ethos; social injustices could occur as individuals put their own interests first; a form of bigotry (why is one moral agent more important than any other?).
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether morality is what God commands. • Whether being a good person is better than just doing good deeds. • Whether Virtue Theory is useful when faced with a moral dilemma. • The extent to which Ethical Egoism inevitably leads to moral evil. • The extent to which all moral actions are motivated by self-interest. • Whether one of Divine Command Theory, Virtue Theory or Ethical Egoism is superior to the other theories.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 1: Ethical Thought
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Meta-ethical approaches - Naturalism: Objective moral laws exist independently of human beings, moral terms can be understood by analysing the natural world; ethical statements are cognitivist and can be verified or falsified; verified moral statements are objective truths and universal. F.H. Bradley - ethical sentences express propositions; objective features of the world make propositions true or false; meta-ethical statements can be seen in scientific terms. Challenges: Hume's Law (the is-ought problem); Moore's Naturalistic Fallacy (moral language is indefinable); the Open Question Argument (moral facts cannot be reduced to natural properties).
E.	Meta-ethical approaches - Intuitionism: Objective moral laws exist independently of human beings; moral truths can be discovered by using our minds in an intuitive way; intuitive ability is innate and the same for all moral agents; intuition needs a mature mind so not infallible; allows for objective moral values. H.A. Prichard, 'ought to do' has no definition; recognise what we 'ought to do' by intuition; two ways of thinking (general and moral). Challenges: no proof of moral intuition exists; intuitive 'truths' can differ widely; no obvious way to resolve conflicting intuitions.
F.	Meta-ethical approaches – Emotivism: Theory that believes objective moral laws do not exist; a non-cognitivist theory; moral terms express personal emotional attitudes and not propositions; ethical terms are just expressions of personal approval (hurrah) or disapproval (boo); explains why people disagree about morality. A.J. Ayer - ethical statements are neither verifiable nor analytic; made to express joy or pain (emotion); expressed to be persuasive; emotivism is not subjectivism. Challenges: no basic moral principles can be established; ethical debate becomes a pointless activity; there is no universal agreement that some actions are wrong.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether ethical and non-ethical statements are the same. • The extent to which ethical statements are not objective. • Whether moral terms are intuitive. • The extent to which moral terms are just expressions of our emotions. • Whether one of Naturalism, Intuitionism or Emotivism is superior to the other theories. • The extent to which the different meta-ethical theories encourage moral debate.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 2: Deontological Ethics
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	St Thomas Aquinas' Natural Law - laws and precepts as the basis of morality: Aquinas' four levels of law (eternal, divine, natural and human); Natural Law derived from rational thought; based on a belief in a divine creator (the highest good as being the rational understanding of God's final purpose). Natural Law as a form of moral absolutism and a theory which has both deontological and teleological aspects. The five primary precepts (preservation of life, ordered society, worship of God, education and reproduction of the human species) as derived from rational thought and based on the premise of 'doing good and avoiding evil'; the secondary precepts which derive from the primary precepts; the importance of keeping the precepts in order to establish a right relationship with God and gain eternal life with God in heaven.
B.	Aquinas' Natural Law - the role of virtues and goods in supporting moral behaviour: The need for humans to be more God-like by developing the three revealed virtues (faith, hope and charity) and four cardinal virtues (fortitude, temperance, prudence and justice). Aquinas' definition of different types of acts and goods: internal acts (the intention of the moral agent when carrying out an action) and external acts (the actions of a moral agent); real goods (correctly reasoned goods that help the moral agent achieve their telos) and apparent goods (wrongly reasoned goods that don't help the moral agent achieve their God given purpose).
C.	Aquinas' Natural Law - application of the theory: The application of Aquinas' Natural Law to both of the issues listed below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. abortion 2. voluntary euthanasia
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The degree to which human law should be influenced by Aquinas' Natural Law. • The extent to which the absolutist and/or deontological nature of Aquinas' Natural Law works in contemporary society. • The strengths and weaknesses of Aquinas' Natural Law. • A consideration of whether Aquinas' Natural Law promotes injustice. • The effectiveness of Aquinas' Natural Law in dealing with ethical issues. • The extent to which Aquinas' Natural Law is meaningless without a belief in a creator God.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 2: Deontological Ethics
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	John Finnis' development of Natural Law: Development of the seven basic human goods (life, knowledge, friendship, play, aesthetic experience, practical reasonableness and religion); distinction between theoretical / practical reason; Nine Requirements of Practical Reason (view life as a whole, no arbitrary preference amongst values (goods), basic goods apply equally to all, do not become obsessed with a particular project, use effort to improve, plan your actions to do the most good, never harm a basic good, foster common good in the community and act in your own conscience and authority); the common good and the need for authority.
E.	Bernard Hoose's overview of the Proportionalist debate: As a hybrid of Natural Law, a deontological / teleological ethic; a Proportionalist maxim ('it is never right to go against a principle unless there is a proportionate reason which would justify it'); distinction between an evil moral act (an immoral act) and pre-moral/ontic evil; distinction between a good act (an act that follows the moral rule) and a right act (an act that is not necessarily a good act, but creates the lesser of two evils); proportionality based on agape.
F.	Finnis' Natural Law and Proportionalism: application of the theory: The application of Finnis' Natural Law and Proportionalism to both of the issues listed below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. immigration 2. capital punishment
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether Finnis' Natural Law is acceptable in contemporary society. • The extent to which Proportionalism promotes immoral behaviour. • Whether Finnis and/or Proportionalism provide a basis for moral decision making for believers and/or non-believers. • The strengths and weaknesses of Finnis' Natural Law and/or Proportionalism. • The effectiveness of Finnis' Natural Law and/or Proportionalism in dealing with ethical issues. • The extent to which Finnis' Natural Law is a better ethic than Proportionalism or vice versa.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 3: Teleological ethics
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Joseph Fletcher's Situation Ethics - his rejection of other forms of ethics and his acceptance of agape as the basis of morality: Fletcher's rejection of other approaches within ethics: legalism, antinomianism and the role of conscience; Fletcher's rationale for using the religious concept of 'agape' (selfless love) as the 'middle way' between the extremes of legalism and antinomianism; the biblical evidence used to support this approach: the teachings of Jesus (Luke 10:25:37) and St Paul (1 Corinthians 13). Situation Ethics as a form of moral relativism, a consequentialist and teleological theory.
B.	Fletcher's Situation Ethics - the principles as a means of assessing morality: The boss principle of Situation Ethics (following the concept of agape); the four working principles (pragmatism, relativism, positivism and personalism); the six fundamental principles (love is the only good, love is the ruling norm of Christianity, love equals justice, love for all, loving ends justify the means and love decides situationally).
C.	Fletcher's Situation Ethics - application of theory: The application of Fletcher's Situation Ethics to both of the issues listed below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. homosexual relationships 2. polyamorous relationships
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The degree to which agape is the only intrinsic good. • Whether Fletcher's Situation Ethics promotes immoral behaviour. • The extent to which Situation Ethics promotes justice. • The effectiveness of Situation Ethics in dealing with ethical issues. • Whether agape should replace religious rules. • The extent to which Situation Ethics provides a practical basis for making moral decisions for both religious believers and non-believers.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 3: Teleological ethics
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Classical Utilitarianism - Jeremy Bentham's Act Utilitarianism: happiness as the basis of morality: Bentham's theory of 'utility' or 'usefulness'; ultimate aim is to pursue pleasure and avoid pain; principle of utility ('the greatest happiness for the greatest number'). The hedonic calculus as a means of measuring pleasure in each unique moral situation; by considering seven factors: intensity, duration, certainty, remoteness, fecundity, purity and extent. Act Utilitarianism as a form of moral relativism, a consequentialist and teleological theory.
E.	John Stuart Mill's development of Utilitarianism: types of pleasure, the harm principle and the use of rules: Mill's idea that not all pleasure is the same: 'higher pleasures' (intellectual) are superior to 'lower pleasures' (basic physical pleasure); the 'Harm Principle': the actions of individuals should be limited to prevent harm to other individuals; not all actions need to be morally assessed as actions are morally right if they conform to a historical rule that has demonstrated that it fulfils the principle of utility (now known as 'Rule' Utilitarianism). Mill's Utilitarianism as a teleological/deontological hybrid.
F.	Bentham's Act Utilitarianism and Mill's Rule Utilitarianism - application of the theory: The application of Bentham's Act Utilitarianism and Mill's Rule Utilitarianism to both of the issues listed below: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. animal experimentation for medical research 2. the use of nuclear weapons as a deterrent
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The degree to which pleasure can be seen as the sole intrinsic good. • The extent to which Act and/or Rule Utilitarianism works in contemporary society. • The extent to which Rule Utilitarianism provides a better basis for making moral decisions than Act Utilitarianism. • Whether Utilitarianism promotes immoral behaviour. • The extent to which Utilitarianism promotes justice. • The extent to which Utilitarianism provides a practical basis for making moral decisions for both religious believers and non-believers.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 4: Determinism and Free will – Determinism
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
A.	Religious concepts of predestination, with reference to the teachings of: St Augustine: Doctrine of Original Sin: role of concupiscence, humanity as "a lump of sin" (massa peccati), an essentially 'free' human nature (liberum arbitrium), the loss of human liberty (libertas) to our sinful nature, God's grace and atonement for the Elect / Saints. John Calvin: Doctrine of Election: the absolute power of God, the corrupted nature of humans, the Elect and the Reprobates, unconditional election, limited atonement, irresistible grace and perseverance of the elect.
B.	Concepts of determinism: Hard determinism: philosophical (John Locke - free will is an illusion, man in bedroom illustration), scientific (biological determinism - human behaviour is controlled by an individual's genes), psychological (Ivan Pavlov - classical conditioning). Soft determinism: Thomas Hobbes (internal and external causes), A.J. Ayer (caused acts v forced acts).
C.	The implications of predestination / determinism: The implications of determinism (hard and soft) on moral responsibility: the worth of human ideas of rightness, wrongness and moral value, the value in blaming moral agents for immoral acts, the usefulness of normative ethics. The implications of predestination on religious belief: the link between God and evil, the implications for God's omnipotence and omnibenevolence, the use of prayer and the existence of miracles.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A consideration of whether religious believers should accept predestination. • The extent to which God predestines humanity. • The extent to which philosophical, scientific and/or psychological determinism illustrate that humanity has no free will. • Strengths and weaknesses of Hard and/or Soft Determinism. • Whether moral responsibility is an illusion. • The extent to which predestination influences our understanding of God.

Component 3: Religion and Ethics

Theme 4: Determinism and Free will – Free will
This theme considers how the study of ethics has, over time, influenced and been influenced by developments in religious beliefs and practices and the philosophy of religion.
Knowledge and understanding of religion and belief
D.	Religious concepts of free will, with reference to the teachings of: Pelagius: The role of original sin, humanity maturing in God's image and accepting the responsibility of free will, free will as used to follow God's laws, the role of grace in salvation. Arminius: Denial of the Calvinist view of predestination, the effect of original sin on free will, God's 'prevenient' grace (the Holy Spirit) in allowing humans to exercise free will, the Elect and the possibility of rejecting God's grace, the election of believers being conditional on faith.
E.	Concepts of libertarianism: Philosophical (Jean Paul Sartre: man is not free not to be free, waiter illustration), scientific (Angela Sirigu's research evidence that the brain allows for free will), psychological (Carl Rogers: humanist approach, self-actualisation).
F.	The implications of libertarianism and free will: The implications of libertarianism on moral responsibility: the worth of human ideas of rightness, wrongness and moral value, the value in blaming moral agents for immoral acts, the usefulness of normative ethics. The implications of free will on religious belief: the link between God and evil, the implications for God's omnipotence and omnibenevolence, the use of prayer and the existence of miracles.
Issues for analysis and evaluation will be drawn from any aspect of the content above, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How convincing are religious views on free will. • The extent to which an individual has free choice. • The extent to which philosophical, scientific and/or psychological views on libertarianism inevitably lead people to accept libertarianism. • The extent to which free moral agents should follow a normative ethic. • The degree to which free will makes the use of prayer irrelevant. • The degree to which beliefs about free will can be reconciled with beliefs about predestination.

3 ASSESSMENT

3.1 Assessment objectives and weightings

Below are the assessment objectives for this specification. Learners must demonstrate their ability to:

AO1

Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion and belief, including:

- religious, philosophical and/or ethical thought and teaching
- influence of beliefs, teachings and practices on individuals, communities and societies
- cause and significance of similarities and differences in belief, teaching and practice
- approaches to the study of religion and belief.

AO2

Analyse and evaluate aspects of, and approaches to, religion and belief, including their significance, influence and study.

The table below shows the weighting of each assessment objective for each component and for the qualification as a whole.

	AO1	AO2
Component 1	13⅓%	20%
Component 2	13⅓%	20%
Component 3	13⅓%	20%
Overall weighting	40%	60%

4 TECHNICAL INFORMATION

4.1 Making entries

This is a linear qualification in which all assessments must be taken at the end of the course. Assessment opportunities will be available in May/June each year, until the end of the life of this specification. Summer 2018 will be the first assessment opportunity.

A qualification may be taken more than once. Candidates must resit all examination components in the same series.

The entry codes appear below.

Qualification title	Route	Entry codes
WJEC Eduqas A level Religious Studies	Route A - including Component 1 Option A: Christianity	A120PA
	Route B - including Component 1 Option B: Islam	A120PB
	Route C - including Component 1 Option C: Judaism	A120PC
	Route D - including Component 1 Option D: Buddhism	A120PD
	Route E - including Component 1 Option E: Hinduism	A120PE
	Route F - including Component 1 Option F: Sikhism	A120PF

The current edition of our Entry Procedures and Coding Information gives up-to-date entry procedures.

4.2 Grading, awarding and reporting

A level qualifications are reported as a grade from A* to E. Results not attaining the minimum standard for the award will be reported as U (unclassified).
